Youth Frontiers to Hold “On The Front” Education Conference

MINNEAPOLIS—October 12, 2007—Youth Frontiers, Inc. will be holding its first-ever education conference entitled “On The Front” for teachers, counselors, and administrators at the Science Museum of Minnesota on Thursday, October 18.

Joe Cavanaugh, Youth Frontiers’ CEO and Founder, in conjunction with Lea Favor, YF’s Director of Education & Evaluation, will be leading the afternoon workshop. Their goal is to engage educators in vibrant dialogue and give them practical tools that will deepen their work with young people and improve their school’s climate.

“As an educator myself, I’m thrilled to have the opportunity to share what Youth Frontiers has learned in our 20 years of working with schools. Educators know that a positive school climate enhances their primary academic mission, and gives young people what they really need: guidance and support in the development of who they are—their character. It’s going to be an exciting workshop,” said Lea Favor.

The conference is directly following the 2007 Education Minnesota Professional Conference being held at the Saint Paul RiverCentre.

For nearly 20 years, Youth Frontiers has been delivering programs that improve school climate and strengthen student character in schools throughout the nation. They are a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization whose vision is to change the way young people treat each other in every hallway, lunch line, and classroom of every school in America by teaching such timeless values as kindness, courage, and respect.
