Courage Retreat[®] Overview

2

The Youth Frontiers Courage Retreat includes a dynamic mix of activities designed to have the greatest impact on participants. Generally, the Courage Retreat runs five and a half hours in length. The retreat focuses on how fear and pressure to follow the crowd can prevent students from acting with courage. The retreat helps students ask themselves important questions like: "What effects do my actions have on my school, my classroom, my friends and myself?"

Booking a Facility

Though we strongly recommend you select an off-campus location for your Courage Retreat, doing so is optional. Retreats at a neutral location are more effective and free from distractions. Schools typically reserve a space at a nearby community center, religious center, banquet center, hotel conference room or similar type of facility.

The Courage Retreat lasts five hours and 30 minutes. Please have the facility opened at least one hour before students arrive to allow the Youth Frontiers staff to set up and remain open for 30 minutes after the retreat for tear down. Please notify the facility staff that the retreat will be loud. Since music is an important element of our retreat, we use our own sound system to play live and recorded music throughout the day.

Chairs and table for Programs Staff The minimum area for a group of 100 1 students is 1,600 square feet (allow 16 X square feet per participant). Eight-foot table X X A carpeted room is recommended since 2 students will spend a significant amount of time sitting on the floor. Open space for games, small groups, We need one eight-foot table and three presentations, sharing. All participants 3 chairs for the Programs Staff, along with should be able to sit knee-to-knee in multiple garbage and recycling cans. one large circle in this space. Chairs are also needed for teachers and 4 staff to sit on. If you have a student in a хххх wheelchair, chairs will need to be provided Chairs for teachers and staff for their entire small group.

Ideal Room for Your Retreat

Transportation

3

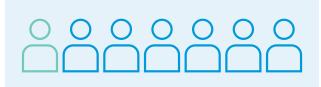

When holding your retreat off-site, please arrange transportation to and from the facility and notify Youth Frontiers of the exact arrival and departure times. We also need to know if students are arriving in shifts, as the retreat will not begin until all participants are present. Small-group leaders need to arrive 45 minutes before the retreat begins.

Transportation costs are paid by the school and are not included in the Youth Frontiers retreat fee.

Small-group Leaders

Small-group leaders establish the energy and tone of the retreat and have a major influence on its success. Students will meet in pre-assigned small groups for discussion three times during the retreat. Each discussion is facilitated by a small-group leader and allows students to talk about the messages of the day.

1:6 Ratio

Expectations

Small-group leaders are expected to:

- Arrive 45 minutes before the retreat begins and stay for the entire retreat. It is disruptive when leaders leave early.
- Lead small groups. This is their biggest responsibility of the day. They will need to be able to communicate well, keep conversations going and help students listen and share respectfully.

Recognition

To help leaders stand out at the retreat, it's helpful if they wear the same color shirt. If you would like to purchase t-shirts from Youth Frontiers, you can indicate on your Priority One Form how many t-shirts you would like. T-shirts cost $12 each. Youth Frontiers recommends one leader for every six students. There should be no more than eight students per leader. Our Programs Staff reserve the right, per our contract, to shorten or reschedule a retreat if there are not enough leaders/chaperones present. Small-group leaders may be local community members, parents or high school students in the 11th grade or above. There should be a gender balance and the diversity of the leaders should be similar to that of the students.

- Help control the crowd. During the large-group activities and talks, leaders need to spread out and sit with the students, not with each other.
- Bring their own bag lunch, unless your school is able to provide lunch for them.
- Participate, have fun and encourage students to do the same. Comfortable clothing is recommended.

Visit youthfrontiers.org/courage-retreat-materials for small-group leader recruitment tips and volunteer appreciation certificates.

Preparing Your Students

Student Expectations

To maintain our program's quality and effectiveness, we ask that students do not use their phones on our retreats. These experiences are about building community and connection with the people in the room, and it's important that all participants are fully present. Refraining from cell phone use during the retreat also shows respect for all participants and facilitators.

The Courage Retreat is designed to be an experience that every student can participate in. During the retreat, your students will engage in high-energy group activities and quiet, reflective moments. These transitions from high to low energy can be difficult for some students. We recommend having an alternative activity and space for students who are unable to meet the behavioral expectations of the day. Please see the Courage Retreat Outline on the final page of this packet to learn more about the different activity levels.

We'd also like to remind you that the Courage Retreat is interactive, so comfortable clothing is recommended. Because we are on the floor for parts of the day, skirts and dresses are not recommended.

How to Talk to Your Students About Their Retreat

An important step in getting ready for your retreat is informing and getting your students excited about the experience. Outlining clear goals and expectations for the day will set your students and the retreat up for success. We suggest emphasizing the below three points with your students:

The Courage Retreat will be a highly interactive experience. It is not a lecture on courage.
 You and your classmates will be asked to participate in games, team-building activities, small-group conversations and moments of reflection.
 The goal of the retreat is to build connections as a class and to take responsibility for your actions.

Retreat Day Details

Food

Youth Frontiers retreats have built-in time for both a mid-morning snack and lunch. On the morning of the retreat, the Youth Frontiers Lead Program Facilitator will confirm your lunch time with your main school contact. Typically, lunch occurs between two and a half and three hours after the start of the retreat and is considered part of the experience.

Best Practices

- Provide a mid-morning snack. You have the option to bring snacks for students, like granola bars, during the first small-group conversation.
- Ask students and/or your cafeteria to provide bag lunches. This allows the most flexibility.
- Keep lunch in the room. Students and leaders will not be allowed to leave the retreat site for lunch, even if you have an open lunch policy at your school. Using your school cafeteria is not recommended.
- Have garbage and recycling cans in the retreat room.

Nametags

Before your retreat day, you will need to assign students into small groups. The groups should be as gender balanced as possible and avoid having good friends or high-conflict relationships in the same group.

Assign a number to each group (one to 15, for example), and make a nametag for each student using their first name and group number. Do not use letters or symbols to represent the groups. Be sure nametags are at least 48-point type or handwritten in large, legible penmanship so our staff can read them from far away. Students need to be wearing their nametags before the retreat begins. Distribute nametags to the students prior to your arrival at the retreat location. When students are wearing nametags, Programs Staff and small-group leaders can immediately begin connecting with students by name.

Pro Tip: Some school communities will also add preferred gender pronouns to the bottom left corner of their students' nametags.

For Your Staff

Staff Expectations

- Select staff/chaperones to be present. One staff per every 30 students.
- Attend the teacher meeting(s) with the YF Lead Program Facilitator.
- Be present with the students during the largegroup activities and topic-based talks.
- Participate in activities as they feel comfortable.
- Assist with any behavior corrections or disciplinary problems as needed.
- Help distribute snack, lunch and retreat materials as needed.

Special Note

Sharing

During both small-group conversations and large-group sharing, students will be asked to refer to their own experiences at school. Before the retreat, small-group leaders will be instructed to be mindful of maintaining appropriate boundaries for the students in their small-group conversations and to redirect the conversation if a student is sharing personal information that is inappropriate for a peer setting.

At the end of your Courage Retreat, there will be time for students to share some thoughts and reflections from the day. Our staff will set expectations for the students that this should be a time for them to share a commitment to make their class and their school better and that they should refrain from blaming or dwelling on past conflicts with classmates.

Participation Benefits

3

Teachers/staff will better understand the language of the retreat, enabling them to reinforce those lessons in the classroom.

The retreat experience builds community. Teachers have told us that the retreat gives them a chance to see students in a different light, and many students say the same about their teachers.

The values we discuss are timeless and everyone can benefit from this experience.

Occasionally, students may bring up emotional or personal experiences. To ensure appropriate sharing, our staff will redirect students, when necessary, to stay within proper boundaries. We recommend that you have a counselor or mental health professional present at the retreat in the event that a student requires further support.

If, during any part of the retreat, a YF staff member is made aware of a student referring to wanting to hurt themself or someone else, our staff will document the incident and relay it to one of your staff, ideally a counselor or school psychologist. Small-group leaders will also be asked to be aware of similar comments and to relay that information to one of our staff.

Sample Memo to Staff

Dear Staff,

I am excited about the upcoming Courage Retreat[®] to be presented by Youth Frontiers, Inc. Youth Frontiers (YF) is a nonprofit organization that has been delivering retreats to schools since 1987. They provide schools with experiences that inspire character, civility and community so that our next generation of leaders is grounded in character. Last year, YF worked with more than 127,000 students and educators throughout the country.

On the day of our retreat, you are asked to fully participate in the retreat experience. Youth Frontiers recognizes how busy educators are and that you may want to complete work outside of the retreat room. However, I ask that you remain present for the duration of the retreat to not only assist with behavior corrections as needed, but also to experience the power of the retreat for yourself.

Your participation is important, both to understand and to be able to reinforce the messages of the day, and to help build on the momentum created from this experience.

Youth Frontiers asks teachers and staff to:

- Select staff/chaperones to be present. One staff per every 30 students.
- Attend the teacher meeting(s) with the YF Lead Program Facilitator.
- Be present with the students during the large-group activities and topic-based talks.
- Participate in activities as they feel comfortable.
- Assist with any behavior corrections or disciplinary problems as needed.
- Help distribute snack, lunch and retreat materials as needed.

Sample Letter for Parents/Caregivers

Dear Parent/Caregiver,

Our school believes that to do well in school, students need to feel connected to their school community. In our ongoing effort to create a positive and caring school culture, we are having a Youth Frontiers Courage Retreat[®].

Youth Frontiers (YF) is a nonprofit organization that has been delivering retreats to schools since 1987. They provide schools with experiences that inspire character, civility and community so that our next generation of leaders is grounded in character. Last year, YF worked with more than 127,000 students and educators throughout the country. On the Courage Retreat, the YF Programs Staff will focus on creating a more positive school community by engaging students in a variety of activities that enhance self-confidence, empathy and connectedness.

This high-energy, interactive retreat is scheduled for ______ for the _____ grade class and will be held at _____

To reinforce the positive effects of the retreat, we believe it's important for the entire community to be involved in supporting and communicating the messages delivered on the retreat. Because of this, we encourage parents and caregivers to inquire about their student's retreat experience by asking the following questions:

- 1. What activities did you find fun?
- 2. What were the small-group leaders like?
- 3. What were some of the social fears that you discussed during the small-group conversations?
- 4. What's a fear you really struggle with?
- 5. What is one thing you can do tomorrow at school to show more courage?

Visit youthfrontiers.org/courage-retreat for more information on Youth Frontiers and to watch a video about the Courage Retreat.

Sincerely,

School Principal or Staff Member

Courage Retreat[®] Outline

The Courage Retreat is filled with activities that most students find refreshing and energizing. For some students, we know that these activities may cause stress and anxiety. We want every student to be a part of the retreat, but we understand if accommodations must be made for some students. Please use this information to talk with your students ahead of time about what they should expect and to decide if accommodations should be made. A YF staff member will be available on the day of your retreat to answer any questions you have.
